SINOPSIS

A villa surrounded by secular olive trees in the South of Italy.

A secret path to the sea.

A small church where lie the bodies of mummified monks.

The ruins of an ancient city eaten by the sea...

When I saw these places for the first time, you were with me.

Returning to Italy, I try to find what remains of you in this country.

Could I remember every details of the moments we spent together during those summer days?

What have we left behind us?
